CANADIAN WHO'S WHO
1988

Canadian Who's Who is the largest and most authoritative publication of its kind in Canada, offering instant access to more than nine thousand prominent Canadians in all walks of life. Published annually to provide current and accurate information, the familiar bright-red volume is recognised as the standard reference source of contemporary Canadian biography.

Until University of Toronto Press acquired publication rights in 1978, the Canadian Who's Who was issued triennially, with five supplementary booklets (the Canadian Biographical Service) published at intervals between editions of the main volume. This publication policy was found on examination to have many drawbacks. Because purchase of the main volume was separate from subscription to the supplementary booklets, librarians and others were never quite sure if their holdings were complete. Also, with the three-year period between editions, the biographies in the main volume became too dated and the current information, scattered in the supplements, was not easily accessible. An annual edition obviated the need for such supplements by locating the most recent information conveniently in one place. Thus while the Canadian Who's Who 1979 was cumulative for the years 1976–9, the 1980 edition was the first to cover a one-year period.

In 1985 University of Toronto Press also published Canadian Who's Who Index 1898–1984, compiled by Evelyn McMann, a complete index of the entire backlist of Canadian Who's Who volumes which includes full name, year of birth, profession or occupation, and the volume or volumes in which each biography appears. Also indexed are the 1898 and 1912 editions of Canadian Men and Women of the Time, edited by Henry J. Morgan. In addition, backlist volumes are available in a microfiche set under the title, Canadian Who's Who in Microfiche 1898–1975.

Canadian Who's Who 1988 includes more than nine thousand biographies of persons who are of current national interest for reference or inquiry. Over three thousand individuals were invited to complete questionnaires from which new biographies were compiled. Those already listed in earlier editions were given two opportunities to update their biographies.

The Canadian Who's Who was first published in 1910 by The Times Publishing Company of London, England, and contained some two thousand biographies of important living Canadians. The late A. L. Tunnell acquired copyright from The Times in 1932, and in 1936 published a substantially larger second edition which incorporated Canadian Men and Women of the Time, a parallel reference work edited by Henry J. Morgan. Beginning with the 1936 edition, the Canadian Who's Who was published under the continuous editorial direction of A. L. Tunnell for forty-two years, until his retirement in 1978 and the acquisition of the work by University of Toronto Press.

The guiding principle governing selection for inclusion has not changed since the first edition was published. There is no charge, nor is there any obligation whatsoever, for the inclusion of a biography in the Canadian Who's Who. Biographees are chosen on merit alone. This long-standing editorial policy has distinguished the Canadian Who's Who in its long history and will be rigorously maintained in the future.

The editor would like to acknowledge the invaluable assistance of Nancy Passy and Gwen Peroni who compiled biographies and researched new listings for this edition. Thanks also to Belinda Beaton, Colin Eatock, Matthew Lumley, and Keitha Keeshie-Tobias, enthusiastic workers all. Special thanks to Lynn Child who provided her usual flawless keyboarding, and to Lesley Fairfield and Elizabeth Lumley who are responsible for the smooth running of this multi-faceted project.
